TWO THAW VICTORIES
BALK JEROME'S FIGHT
FOR HIS DEPORTATION

Canadian Judge Permits Withdrawal of Habeas Corpus Writ, After Denying Even a Hearing to New York State Counsel.

CROWDS CHEER IN COURT, GIRLS MOB PRISONER

Counsel May Delay Further Proceedings Until October, While Jail Is Shelter From Seizure.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)
SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 27.—Judge Globensky, in the Superior Court this afternoon, granted the application of Harry K. Thaw's lawyers for a discontinuance of their writ of habeas corpus, and remanded Thaw back to jail, "let the law take its course."

Thaw's case is right back where it stood on Tuesday of last week, when he was arrested and lodged in the old county jail here.

In a decision, delivered in French, Judge Globensky said:

It is mandatory upon a Judge to issue a writ of habeas corpus when it is applied for, but there is vested in him no power to force the defense to avail themselves of the privileges of this writ if they feel that their rights would be better conserved by not employing it. I therefore sustain the application for a dismissal and remand Thaw to the county jail to allow the law to take its course.

On ascending the bench Judge Globensky made a brief speech in which he registered his regret at the scandalous scene in court this morning.

When the auditors cheered Thaw in a boisterous outburst.

YOUNG GIRLS CROWD TO SHAKE THAW'S HAND.

Men and women clustered around Thaw when the decision was reached. Young girls crowded forward and tried to shake his hand. Thaw was in his element. He bowed right and left. Not in years had he been the recipient of such attention, and probably never before in his life had he faced a crowd so heartily in sympathy with him.

The crowd around the court house was scarcely less dense than that inside. Everyone in Sherbrooke who could get sight of him swarmed the big room and found a place on the lawn about the building. The path down which Thaw went from a door of the court house was lined by men, women and children. Everywhere was apparent the same interest in his case and sympathy for him which had occasioned an amazing outburst this morning.

Thaw was greeted again with cheers. Men yelled and women waved handkerchiefs at him. He bowed and smiled to the right and left and doffed his hat a last time as he climbed into an open Victoria drawn by two gray horses.

"Hurrah for Thaw! You're all right. Stick to us and we'll stick to you," were the last words Thaw heard as he was driven up the hill toward the jail.

THAW'S STATUS EXACTLY AS UPON HIS ARRIVAL.

How long this old stone building where he occupies the hospital ward is to be his home, no one knows now. Thaw is back in exactly the same position that he occupied when he entered the building. Then it was agreed by Canadian lawyers that there were only two ways to liberate him: To swear out a writ of habeas corpus or to have him arraigned for a hearing by Magistrate Dupuis, who committed him. The writ has been tried and has failed because Thaw and his attorneys feared to face the immigration officials who were waiting to arrest Thaw the moment he was declared at liberty. There remains the chance that he will yet be heard by Magistrate Dupuis. The New York State representatives here would like this, but it is hardly likely that Thaw and his counsel, after this hot fight, will take a chance of allowing him to fall into the hands of the immigration men.

GAYNOR WILL RUN
ON HIS OWN TICKET
FOR THE MAYORALTY

Official Announcement of Determination Made by His Secretary, Robert Adamson.

PROTESTS TO WHITMAN.

District-Attorney Is Entreated to Refuse Tammany Indorsement.

A long distance telephone call to the home of Mayor Gaynor at St. James, Long Island, this afternoon was answered by Robert Adamson, the Mayor's secretary, who had gone down to the country on a morning train. In answer to questions, Mr. Adamson made this statement:

"Mayor Gaynor will run for re-election. I say this with the authority of the Mayor himself. He says you may make this statement as strong as you like."

Mr. Adamson refused to say what was going on at St. James. It is believed that the Mayor was visited by his close political advisers, who consulted with him about getting out a formal statement announcing his candidacy and telling why the people should re-elect him.

The Mayor's leading advisers sent messages assuring him that this is the psychological time to announce himself as an independent candidate and to invite all the Fusion candidates, excepting, of course, Mayorality Candidate Mitchell, to join him on his third ticket. They advised that he should take even District-Attorney Whitman, despite the personal animosity existing between them.

STATISTICS TO SHOW GAYNOR'S BENEFICIAL RULE.

The Mayor's strategy board is of opinion that by such a move he will become so strong that the Republicans will vote for him instead of for Mitchell in their primaries on Sept. 16 and thereby make him the party candidate. The plan is to make a move so that eventually Mayor Gaynor will head the Fusion ticket with all the allies excepting Hearst back of him. They believe that such a ticket would have an assured success.

Mr. Adamson also carried an accumulation of data on the achievements of the various branches of city government.

POLO GROUNDS, AUG. 27.—Heavy clouds and threatening rain kept the crowd down to 3,000 to-day, but the Reds and the Giants got the job of their hands just the same. It was Cincinnati's last chance to play on the Polo Grounds this year, and if the game was postponed it would have to be played off at Cincinnati.

Fromme pitched for the Giants and Brown worked for the Reds. Doyle was back in the lineup for the first time in several days. Shaffer returning to his old station at third.

FIRST INNING—Becher flied out to Burns in short left. Bates was out on a grounder, Merkle to Fromme, who covered the bag. Groh popped out to Doyle. No Run.

Burns flied out to Clark. Shaffer singled over short. Shaffer stole second.

Shaffer died stealing third. Clark to Dodge. Fletcher got a base on balls and was caught napping off first. Brown to Hoblitzell. No Run.

an infield hit and went to second on

Fletcher's high throw to Merkle. Hoblitzell lined out to Murray. On the hit and run play Tinker singled to right, scoring Marsans. Dodge hit into a double play. Doyle to Fletcher to Mer-

kle. One Run.

Hoblitzell got Doyle's grounder and beat him out in a race to first. Merkle rolled a slow drive through the infield

for a double. Tinker threw out Murray.

NEW TAXI LAW
IS CONSTITUTIONAL,
SAYS DONNELLY

Supreme Court Justice Refuses Injunction Asked by American Taximeter Company.

LAST OBSTACLE GONE.

Sightseeing Autos Also Amenable to the Law, Justice Declares.

Supreme Court Justice Donnelly late

this afternoon refused to grant the American Taximeter Company and the Broadway Auto Touring Company permanent injunctions restraining the city

from enforcing the new taximeter ordinance for which The Evening World fought successfully. Thus the last obstacle to the big taxicab company,

who are hiding behind the taximeter

company in an effort to get a second day in court, is defeated.

Justice Donnelly held that the ordinance is constitutional in every respect and he concurs in the decision which

Justice Seabury handed down last week

denying the big companies an injunction.

It took Justice Donnelly a very short time to reach his decision as the final papers in the case were not submitted

until Tuesday afternoon.

Justice Seabury has passed upon the constitutionality of the ordinance.

Justice Donnelly says: "In the case of the Yellow Taxicab Company and the others against the city, and for the reasons stated in said opinion I also hold the said ordinance to be constitutional and valid.

"In regard to the contention that it will be physically impossible to comply with the provisions of Article Six of the ordinance, the papers submitted in the case by the plaintiff taximeter company do not by any means bear out

this claim. On the contrary they show that at the most the plaintiff may be subjected to temporary inconvenience

in changing the construction of the meters to meet the requirements of the new ordinance. The motion is therefore denied and the preliminary injunction vacated."

In his decision in the case of the

Broadway Auto Touring Company,

which operates sightseeing cars from

Forty-second street and Seventh avenue, Justice Donnelly virtually threw his case out of court by deciding that he failed to find a question to decide

among the various contentions set up by the rubberneck wagon company's attorneys.

This company claimed that the city

did not have power to control the big excursion since they were not taxicabs.

The decision holds that all sightseeing cars, as well as other vehicles in the public service, are amenable to the new law.

The decision to-day disposes of the last attack upon the ordinance.

"We Are Friends, but Disorder Down There Must Cease," Chief Executive Dramatically Tells the Nation's Lawmakers.

SISTER NATION IS WARNED TO BRING ABOUT PEACE

First Time Since Days of George Washington a President Has Read a Foreign Message.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Wilson appeared in person before Congress to-day and laid bare to the world the details of this nation's efforts to bring about peace in Mexico, the facts concerning Huerta's rejection of the peace proposals and the policy to be pursued now by this Government. The President announced the position of the United States to be as follows:

No armed intervention.

Strict neutrality, "forbidding the exportation of arms or munitions of war of any kind from the United States to any part of the Republic of Mexico."

Under no circumstances to "be the partisans of either party to the contest that now distracts Mexico, or constitute ourselves the virtual umpire between them."

To urge all Americans to leave Mexico at once and to assist them to get away in every way possible.
